Introducing CUaxis: A Core Community for Credit Unions

Greensboro, N.C. (August 3, 2021) – Vizo Financial Corporate Credit Union is proud to introduce CUaxis, a community for credit unions that focuses on core processing, collaboration and the cooperative spirit. CUaxis is a place to enhance credit union connections to one another through a common core solution, making the movement’s values of cooperation and people helping people the central focus.

In this endeavor, Vizo Financial is joined by other credit union organizations in providing a space for institutions to find the services, support, education and expertise they need for continued success. CUaxis is where core services, as well as other services, support and knowledge stand side by side. Professionals with years of experience lend a helping hand. There’s a never-ending outpouring of encouragement and inspiration to keep credit unions moving forward.

“Through building partnerships with fellow credit union organizations and the challenging events of the past year, we realized that developing true connections within our movement was more important than ever,” said Jaime Agostino, marketing and business development director of Vizo Financial. “So, we set out to create a community of collaboration among our core users, and we believe CUaxis embodies all the cooperative principles our movement is built on, while providing real-life solutions and assistance for credit unions.”

Credit unions are encouraged to join this unique community, where they will have access to all of the CUaxis core products/services, resources and solutions from our group of providers as part of the cuasterisk.com network. These include:

- A robust core solution plus additional services to supplement an institution’s product offerings
- Information-sharing and discussion opportunities with fellow credit unions through core-focused blogs and community forums
- Breaking news from our partners and credit unions
- Avenues for networking, socializing and even more core news via social media platforms
- Hands-on educational opportunities, including webinars, workshops and conferences

In addition to the more tangible resources from CUaxis, credit unions can also enjoy other collaboration-driven advantages, such as time savings, service bundles, group-buy discounts, chances for growth and learning, support of their peers and a new perspective for the future.
